

Scott Sattler

Junior Software Engineer

👤 Professional Summary

Software engineer and lifelong learner that enjoys building things, solving logic puzzles, and finding novel solutions to complex problems.

📁 Employment History

Python Co-Instructor at Goodwill Career & Technical Academy, Austin, TX

April 2022 — Present

- Develop, work, and present Python demos
- Lecture using Python in Jupyter Notebook
- Create, expand, and revise Python course curriculum
- Tutor students and ensure no student falls behind
- Continue education through certification and advanced projects

Python Teaching Intern at Goodwill Career & Technical Academy, Austin, TX

January 2022 — April 2022

- Expanded and improved curriculum
- Tutored students
- Worked on advanced projects
- Demonstrated coding ability/apptitude for co-instructor

📜 Relevant Certifications

Entry-Level Python Programmer

Certified by the Python Institute (March 2022)

Associate in Python Programming (in progress)

Certified by the Python Institute (expected May 2022)

🎓 Relevant Coursework

CS50: Intro. to Computer Science, edX

6.034: Artificial Intelligence, OpenCourseWare

🎓 Education

Nuclear Engineering, Texas A&M University, College Station

2004 — 2008

📄 References

Gage Russell from Q2 & Goodwill Industries

gage.russell.atx@gmail.com · 512.682.9280

Alexis Denny from Goodwill Industries

alexis.denny@goodwillcentraltexas.org · 512.637.7131

Details

Austin, Texas

512.922.9180

scott.sattler.dev@gmail.com

Links

Developer Portfolio

GitHub Profile

Skills

Python

C#

Version Control (Git)

SQL

JavaScript

R

HTML & CSS

IT (Computer Hardware)

Technical Writing

Microsoft Excel

PyCharm

Visual Studio

>2SD Abstract Reasoning

>3SD Visuospatial Ability